PRICE THREE CENTS

2500 MEMBERS OF KLAN IN PARADE; 10 BANDS IN LINE

Large Delegations From Surrounding Towns Swell Line of Marchers; Services Sunday.

Rain greeted the Pennsylvania Knights of the Ku Klux Klan, drenched them while they held their three-day annual convolve here and sped them on their way home, Sunday afternoon.

But Jupiter Pluvius was kind to the hosts of visitors, Saturday afternoon, for one hour before the parade was scheduled to begin, the sun, hidden for six days, broke through the scudding clouds, and dried off the streets for the marchers.

Shortly after 4 o'clock, the throng of white-robed men, women and children began parading through the streets. With between 2,000 and 2,500 persons in line, the procession was bigger and far more colorful than the parade last year, when less than 2,000 marched.

Ten Bands In Line

Ten bands and drum corps played stirring patriotic and religious selections as the white-clad horde swept through the streets in orderly fashion. The procession required three-quarters of an hour to pass a given point.

While the several thousand Klansmen, their wives and children marched, additional thousands lined the curbs cheering and applauding sections of the parade which pleased them.

A band of Harrisburg boys, dressed as Zouaves, led the parade, followed by the major kleeagle of Pennsylvania women of the Klan, riding in a large automobile, surrounded by a guard of women, wearing white suits with blue-lined capes.

Some of the larger delegations in the parade were those from York, Harrisburg, Bucks county Kouriers, Carbonale, Bristol, Waynesboro, Lemoyne, McKeesport, Montgomery county, Conshohocken, Chester county, Fulton county, Middletown and Luzerne county.

Many Unmasked

Most of the participants in the parade were unmasked, although many marched with their faces covered. A large group, wearing white roses on red backgrounds across their chests, paraded masked.

A Klan band with costumes in which purple, gold and white mingled was the recipient of much applause along the route, and a replica of the "little red schoolhouse" also attracted considerable attention.

Several of the Klan delegations carried large American flags, and spectators along the line of march tossed nickles, dimes and quarters on the banners, one of which was so wide that it extended almost from curb to curb, and required more than 20 men to carry.

In addition to the Klansmen of the Pennsylvania realm, delegations from Maryland, New York and New Jersey also were seen in the procession.

Many Cars Mired

Closing exercises of the annual Klan convention were held Sunday on the large field one mile east of Gettysburg along the Lincoln Highway.

The morning services were addressed by a representative of Klan-haven, the institutional home near Harrisburg, and in the absence of the Imperial representative, who it was announced was critically ill, the same representative spoke in the afternoon. The Rev. R. J. Frazier, pastor of the St. Paul's Zion A. M. E. church, also delivered an address.

A band from Klan-haven rendered a number of selections and also furnished the music for the singing.

Many automobiles became mired in the soft ground on the parking space at the Klan headquarters and a tractor was required to pull out the mired machines.

Although rain and disagreeable weather marred the sessions of the Klan convention this year, local Klansmen expressed themselves as well satisfied with the attendance and interest shown in the sessions.

TO STUDY MUSIC

Miss Dorothy Rimmel, East Middle street, today began studies in music at the Peabody Conservatory, Baltimore. Miss Rimmel, who graduated from Gettysburg High School and spent two years at Gettysburg College, is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. M. R. Rimmel.

FARM WEATHER REPORT

Meusel Scores First Yankee Run in Second Game of Series

Bob Meusel is shown sliding across homeplate for the first run of the Yankees in the second inning of the second game of the World series between the St. Louis Cardinals and the New York Yankees at the Yankee Stadium in New York Sunday. The first man up in the second stanza, he poled out a single and finally scored on Lazzeri's single off Alexander. (International Newsreel.)

VARIED PROGRAM IS ARRANGED FOR I. O. O. F. SESSIONS

Parade of All Members Will be Held Tuesday, October 19; Many Are Expected Here.

Arrangements have been completed and the detailed program announced for the ninety-seventh annual grand encampment of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows of Pennsylvania, and the thirty-third annual meeting of the Pennsylvania Department Council of Patriarchs Militant, of the same order, which will be held in Gettysburg, October 17 to 21 inclusive.

At the same time, the Rebekah assembly, the women's auxiliary of Odd Fellowship, will be in session. Between 500 and 600 men and women as official delegates and hundreds of visitors are expected to be in Gettysburg during the five-day period.

Odd Fellows have received the whole-hearted support of the community in general toward helping to make the several conventions successful and at the same time provide entertainment for the hundreds of visiting delegates and friends of Odd Fellows.

The convention will be formally opened with a service in St. James Lutheran church, Sunday evening, October 17, at 7:30 o'clock with the sermon given by the Rev. Earl J. Bowman, pastor, who is an Odd Fellow.

The detailed program for the other four days follows:

Monday, October 18

9 a. m.—Department council session in Odd Fellows hall. First National Bank building, Center Square. Address of welcome, Burgess C. A. Heiges; response, Major-General R. J. Lippy, department commander.

10 a. m.—Department auxiliaries in Odd Fellows hall.

2:30 p. m.—Competitive drills by Cantons on Gettysburg High School athletic grounds.

8 p. m.—Competitive exemplification of the Patriarchs Militant Degree in Odd Fellows hall.

8 p. m.—Exemplification of mustering ceremony by Ladies' Auxiliary Patriarchs Militant in P. O. S. of A. hall, Baltimore street.

4:30 p. m.—Special session (limited) of the grand lodge, Odd Fellows hall.

8 p. m.—Grand decoration and decoration of chivalry, Majestic Theatre.

9:30 p. m.—Grand military ball, Gettysburg Hotel annex.

Wednesday, October 20

9 a. m.—Session of the Grand Encampment of Pennsylvania, Odd Fellows hall.

BAPTIZE TEN CHILDREN IN ONE FAMILY

Ten children in the family of Mr. and Mrs. John H. Bowman, near Bonneauville, were baptized, Saturday afternoon, by the Rev. J. I. Hummer, pastor of St. Luke's Lutheran church, near Littlestown. None of the children had ever been baptized, and the service was described as unusually impressive by the officiating minister.

The children to receive the first rites of the Lutheran faith were Lettie S., 19; John O., 17; Carrie Viola, 15; Blanche Romaine, 13; Paul Revere, 11; Clark Luther, 9; Mildred Naomi, 7; Walter Robert, 5; Beatrice Helen, 3, and Lester Mervin, 11 months.

Two of the ten children were confirmed in St. Luke's church at the Sunday morning service. They were Lettie S. Bowman and John O. Bowman.

Sunday evening at St. Luke's church, the Union Lutheran church quartet of York sang a number of selections. The church was crowded for the evening service.

"TOO HOT" IS SONG BEING HEARD, BUT RAIN IS PROMISED

"It's too hot for October." This was the plaint of Gettysburgians today after seven sunless days. When Old Sol reappeared after the week's layoff, he came "in all his glory"—and brought mid-summer heat, which sent the mercury mounting.

A thunderstorm, Sunday afternoon, was counted upon by many to bring lower temperatures, but instead the mercury in thermometers and barometers did an about face and started upward.

The present respite of sunshine is expected to be short-lived, however, with the weather report for Tuesday again calling for rain.

TRAFFIC HEAVY BUT NO ACCIDENTS

Although traffic was unusually heavy on roads in Adams county, Sunday, no accidents of consequence occurred on the machine-crowded highways. State highway motor patrolmen said they were not called to investigate any accidents, and no arrests for violations of motor vehicle laws were made.

No patients were admitted to the Warner Hospital over the week-end, which is unusual for so busy a Sunday when automobiles from within a wide radius converge on Gettysburg and its historic battlefield.

ROTARIANS TO HEAR OF APPLES

The Gettysburg Rotary Club will be addressed this evening by Chester J. Tyson, of Flora Dale, one of Adams county's principal apple growers, who will speak on the subject, "What the Apple Industry Means to Adams County."

The weekly luncheon meeting will be held at the Hoffman Hotel at 6 o'clock.

Rev. Catherman Delivers Introductory Sermon At Methodist Church Sunday

Newly Appointed Pastor Addresses Large Congregation On "Our Comrade Christ."

Preaching his introductory sermon, the Rev. Charles F. Catherman, pastor of the Methodist Episcopal church, succeeding the Rev. C. C. Cole, who resigned on an account of ill health, took as his topic "Our Comrade Christ" at the regular morning service.

A large crowd was on hand to greet the new minister, who comes here from Shrewsbury, York county, at his first service with the local congregation.

Taking as the theme of his discourse Leviticus 26:12, "And I will walk among you and be your God and ye shall be my people," the Rev. Mr. Catherman said in part:

"What an inspiring and precious privilege it is to hold fellowship with the great minds and the great hearts of the ages, men of genius, achievement, character and distinction who have made enduring contributions to art, music, literature, commerce, industry, statehood and religion. The enrichment and enthusiasm of great men stir the mind and warm the heart. But what higher privilege is ours on this holy day, and all the days, to journey down the glorious ways of the Good Book and our human experiences with the Comrade Christ; to walk and talk with God until our hearts are strangely warmed, love glows in our souls and all selfishness and sin die within our breasts."

"How do we know that God walks among us? How do we know we have fellowship with Him? Can these eyes see Him? These ears hear Him? These hands clasp His? No! 'No one hath seen God at any time.' But Christ the only begotten Son hath declared Him and revealed Him. We know that He walks among us because of a strange stirring in our hearts to do good, to perform nobly, sacrificially and heroically in His world; because of that strange impulse within our breasts that makes us love the little children of the world, that makes us kin with men of every class and every color and every condition and unites us in an inseparable and universal union of brotherhood, peace, goodwill and justice. We know that God walks among us because of that strange feeling in our hearts that bids us be hopeful in adversity, patient in affliction, penitent in our sinfulness. We know that God walks among us when we feel sorry that we have ever made any heart bleed, ever done an unkind deed or said an unkind word to any living soul."

"We know that God walks among us when we see a patriarch walking down Bristol's streets, his white soul glowing above the brightness of his snowy hair; see him in the long vista of the years before when he took a hungry boy by the hand and led him from Bristol's streets to his parsonage for dinner; see him take yet other hungry boys and hungry girls until the house is filled with hungry children, yea, a second house and a third house until seven great buildings shelter and feed 1500 children and send out into God's world more than 120,000 noble men and women who owe their lives, their honor, their achievement, their faith to George Muller's orphan home.

"We know that God walks among us when Leland Stanford rises out of his midnight dreams, his heart broken and bruised in agony over the loss of his only begotten son, and writes the name of that boy for other people's children over the threshold of a mighty and majestic institution of learning on the Pacific coast, Leland Stanford Jr. University. We know that God walks among us when in the silent chambers of men's hearts he incites them to deeds of goodness, mercy and love."

"I will walk among you." In the hours of trial and temptation, passion and sin God comes very near to our hearts to help us. And walking with us, all our petty and paltry grievances, all envy and prejudice and bitter hatreds dissolve away. A new and gracious spirit fills our hearts. Love (Continued on Second Page)

Aged New Chester Resident Succumbs

Mrs. Elizabeth Leivelsberger, widow of Jacob Leivelsberger, of New Chester, died at 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon at the home of her son-in-law and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. L. E. Melhorn, York. She was in her eighty-second year. Death was caused by complications. Mrs. Leivelsberger went to York about a week ago to visit her daughter and after arriving there became ill. Her death followed.

Besides her daughter, Mrs. Melhorn, she leaves a sister, Miss Lovina Winand, of New Chester, and a brother, John Winand, of Manchester. Funeral services from the Melhorn residence at 9 o'clock Tuesday morning, and with further services at St. John's Reformed church, New Chester, and burial made in the adjoining cemetery, the Rev. Harry D. Houtz, of East Berlin, officiating.

Gettysburg's Four Football Teams Are Victorious Saturday

And That's That

—by—

GETTYSBURG, 16; LEHIGH, 6.

There was never a doubt as to who would win, Gettysburg making twice as many touchdowns and first downs as Lehigh.

Tuckey and Spangler got away for many spectacular onslaughts that were decidedly of a brilliant nature.

Said Mr. Tuckey as the game progressed:

"Here's me, a backfield man, and getting no exercise. I think I'll take a little stroll."

When informed that Mr. Tuckey was contemplating a little stroll, Mr. Spangler put two and two together and asked Mr. Tuckey if by any chance he was going in the direction of the Lehigh goal.

"Might as well," replied Mr. Tuckey. "Fine," said Mr. Spangler. "Would you mind taking this football along with you?"

"Not at all," agreed Mr. Tuckey.

Whereupon, Mr. Tuckey, at the request of Mr. Hubisack, took the football and sauntered some eighty (80) yards across to the Lehigh goal. Very thoughtfully, Mr. Spangler accompanied Mr. Tuckey, but he stopped on the way to talk the situation over with several of the boys from Lehigh who seemed to be somewhat interested in the progress of Mr. Tuckey.

By a quaint old custom six (6) points were awarded the Gettysburg team.

But our story is not over. Lehigh has some nice friendly young men who are anxious to learn the sport of football. They feign would have stopped Mr. Tuckey in order that they might chat with him as he strolled along the field. In fact Mr. Tuckey passed several young men who looked at him rather eagerly. However, they must have been merely "passing" acquaintances or else Mr. Tuckey was somewhat preoccupied with the thought of his "stroll" for he merely smiled and nodded as he went by.

We trust Lehigh was not offended for, after all, Mr. Tuckey, like Milton, prefers to take his strolls in solitude.

As an after thought we hope Mr. Tuckey will continue his little custom of "strolling". It will certainly be profitable to our pecuniary resources if he takes an occasional stroll on successive Saturday afternoons during the fall months.

LEAGUE PENNANT GAME CALLED OFF

The weatherman stepped in and spoiled the first game of the Adams county series, the first game of which was to have been played on Saturday at Arendtsville, between the league leaders of the second half of the season and St. Mary's, of McSherrystown, who led the teams to the tape in the first half.

Everything was set for an auspicious opening of the final series but at 11 o'clock the threatening weather induced the officials to postpone the setto until later. Just how much later, however, has not been revealed, but in all probability it will be sometime this week.

RUM SHIP TAKEN BY COAST GUARDS

(By Associated Press.) New York, Oct. 4.—The British steamer Hohenlinden with 2,000 cases of alleged liquor aboard was seized by the coast guard as she was unloading her cargo at a pier at Bayway, New Jersey. The crew fled when the guards arrived. The vessel was aground when seized, but was floated and towed to the upper bay.

The vessel said to be an old off-fender apparently sailed through the coast guard fleet, and had unloaded 1,000 cases of assorted liquors before the coast guard arrived.

Varsity Furnishes "Upset" By Defeating Lehigh By Score Of 16 To 6.

"We have met the enemy and they are ours" could have been unanimous comment of the coaches of Gettysburg's four football teams, after their games on Saturday, provided they were inclined to make trite remarks, for victory rode on the crest of the Gettysburg wave which swept four teams off their feet in four different battles, Saturday, three of which were fought in close proximity to the battlefield of Civil War fame.

According to local sport followers, never so far as many could remember has Gettysburg had such a victorious day as it had on Saturday, expect perhaps back in 1863 when the Union forces repelled the advancing Rebels, but scholastically speaking the record of the day is unique.

While the academy team was first chronologically speaking to "bring home the bacon," the feat of the "daddy of them all," Gettysburg varsity, in trouncing Lehigh by the surprisingly one-sided score of 16 to 6, capped the climax of the day.

No less important was the 6 to 0 score presented on a platter to their alma mater by the yearlings, who sent the frosh from Dickinson back again to the environs of Carlisle accounting up their mistakes, the 14 to 0 score run up by the Academy against Carlisle High School nor the 19 to 0 score by which Gettysburg High School downed Lebanon High School.

Score Is An "Upset" The upset of the day was naturally the varsity's defeat of Lehigh, the much touted Brown and White team from Bethlehem, which although suffering a defeat at the hands of little St. John's on the Saturday previous was still looked upon as the heavy favorite.

While the varsity was the only team to be scored upon during the day's festivities, the lone tally was the result of a forward pass over the goal line, but all in all the scores of the teams show a total of 55 points to 6 for their opponents.

Against Lehigh, Gettysburg was, offensively, the better team registering more than double the number of (Continued on Third Page)

Mrs. Paxton Bigham Resigns Office on Account of Illness; Winter Program Arranged.

At the October meeting of the Gettysburg chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, Mrs. J. Paxton Bigham, who has been regent for the past three years, tendered her resignation on account of illness. The chapter regrettably accepted the resignation. Mrs. Samuel F. Lehman, who has been vice regent, will succeed Mrs. Bigham as regent.

Mrs. John Mumper was appointed by Mrs. Bigham as the new treasurer, succeeding the late Mrs. J. L. Butt. Routine business and plans for the winter were discussed. Mrs. S. F. Lehman was appointed delegate to the state conference to be held in Uniontown October 26 to 29.

COOLIDGE LETTER PRAISED MILLER

(By Associated Press.) New York, Oct. 4.—Thomas W. Miller, former alien property custodian, whom the government alleges accepted $50,000 of a $441,000 bribe paid for release of $7,000,000 American Metals Company shares, was lauded by President Coolidge for his "efficient services" it was revealed today at the Daugherty-Miller conspiracy trial.

A letter signed by President Coolidge dated March, 1925, was read to the jury by Miller's attorney.

BAND UPHOLDS NAVY TRADITION

Official Musical Organization of the Sea Forces to Play Here October 11.

It is a tradition of the American Navy that that branch of the national defense service can always accomplish the impossible. Ever since John Paul Jones, with the Bon Homme Richard sinking under him, replied to the demand that he surrender, shouted to him by the commander of the Serapis, with the immortal defiance, "I have not yet begun to fight!" the Navy has been winning battles that couldn't be won, meeting emergencies that couldn't be met, and otherwise achieving things that couldn't be achieved. So strong is this tradition, that during the World War the motto of the procurement division of the Navy was: "It can't be done, but here it is!"

The United States Navy Band, which is to be heard here in concert on the afternoon and evening of October 11 at the Majestic Theatre, under the auspices of the Lions Club, is not only a distinctly representative Navy organization, but has itself made a record for maintaining this Navy tradition. On its concert tour last year rail transportation failed in making one of its "jumps," and Lieut. Benter promptly arranged for the use of three large trucks, loaded them with his musicians, their instruments and baggage, and set out over bad roads to keep his next engagement. One after another the trucks developed engine or tire trouble, or some other of the complaints that afflict motor vehicles, but Lieut. Benter and his bandmen turned in and helped the drivers and in the end the convoy arrived at the destination just as the clock was striking the hour for the opening of the concert.

Without a moment's hesitation, Lieut. Benter led his men into the auditorium and on to the stage, tired, hungry, dusty, even dirty as they were, and attired in their civilian clothes, waved his baton, and crashed into the opening number of the program, one of Sousa's thrilling marches.

"And the funny thing about it, said Lieut. Benter in relating the experience, "was that we never played better in our lives, and we never had a more appreciative audience. The musicians seemed to get a lot of pep out of the idea that we had made good on keeping our engagement, while the audience was not only enthusiastic over our music, but grateful to us for not having disappointed them."

banishes hatred. Goodwill drives out envy. The storm passes on; the clouds break away; the sunshine of God mellows our souls.

"I will walk among you." In the desolation of despair and grief, and in the darkness of life's disappointments, God comes very near to our hearts. Fathers disappointed in their sons; mothers in their daughters; children in their parents. Hearts are lonely. Friends have gone beyond the sunset. Nights are dark with no friendly stars. But God is near, O lonely, desolate heart. God shall wipe all tears from their eyes! God shall help them and that right early. Beside the heart's door is the Comrade Christ. Enter forever, O Thou Blessed Beautiful One.

"I will walk among you." In all the hours of life, God will walk and talk with you all here this Sabbath morning. Some of you are fathers and mothers growing older in years. May he walk with you in grace and redeeming love that you may turn the hearts of your children to God. Children are here. May God come and walk with you and take you up in his everlasting arms of love and keep you down in the path of usefulness and service and lead you into the faith of your father's God. And you are here in the hours of youth. You are gay and merry and you shout and laugh because you are happy. You have many problems to solve. May God keep your hearts pure, your minds clear and your lives wholesome and useful. Amen."

An absent minded person is one who thinks he left his watch at home and then takes it out to see if he has time to go home and get it.

How's that for psychology? We don't like to leave a bad taste in anyone's mouth.

MID-WEST AGAIN STORM-FLOODED

Several Towns Inundated by Swollen Rivers; Levee at Beardston, Ill., Breaks.

(By Associated Press.)

Chicago, Oct. 4.—A dozen mid-western towns were turned into new world Venices today as motorboats flashed through water covered streets to rescue flood bound residents from tree tops and roofs of houses.

Nearly a score of streams and rivers in Kansas, Oklahoma and Illinois were rampaging at flood crest under the impetus of unceasing rainfall and thousands of persons were forced to seek shelter as the swirling waters inundated the lowlands.

The flood situation at Beardston, Ill., became menacing again when the angry waters of the Illinois river dug two large holes in a levee and poured into the city streets in the lower part of the town. The levee which has withstood the swollen stream for two weeks gave way last night and volunteers were unsuccessful in efforts to repair the damage and swift currents forced them back.

While scores of homes had been flooded and considerably damaged the city said no outside assistance would be asked.

Large supplies of disinfectants and chemicals to combat disease are being made available.

BUSINESS GIRLS TO MEET

A meeting of the business girls of Gettysburg has been called for Tuesday evening at the Young Women's Christian Association when an organization will be planned and the activities for the year discussed. The meeting is called by Miss Metta Mitchell, newly elected secretary of the Y. M. C. A., for 7:30 o'clock and she urges that all of the employed girls of Gettysburg attend the initial session.

MEETING POSTPONED

The meeting of the Warner Hospital women's auxiliary, scheduled for this evening, has been postponed until next Monday evening, October 11, at 7:30 o'clock. The meeting will be held in Christ Lutheran church.

"I've got him," cried Mr. Hand of Lehigh.

One minute later Saint Peter shook Mr. Hand's hand (late of Lehigh), gave him a flute and instructed him to move over in the alto section.

ALL THREE OF THE KLANSMEN SAID THEY ENJOYED THEIR VISIT IN GETTYSBURG. WE ARE GLAD SOMEBODY DID.

A reader of this column inquired if there is "anything we do like." Madam, there is. We like The Gettysburg Times and also we like the "That's That" column. Of the two we prefer the latter.

And by the way, if we don't get back on the front page soon, we shall devote an entire issue of this column to the Times.

"We want college news. Leave Coolidge out of your column." Well, so do we.

A friend of this column has lost a black and gold triangular pin with the initials "R. E. D." inscribed on the inside. "We would greatly appreciate any information regarding the pin."

DICK HARLOW AND HIS ALL-AMERICANS OF MANY YEARS PAST WON A GAME FROM DICK-INSON. WE LIKE TO SEE DICK-INSON LOOSE ANYTHING AND EVERYTHING. BUT WE HOPE SHE WILL NOT LOSE HER AMATEUR STANDING BECAUSE SHE PLAYED A GROUP OF PROFESSIONALS REPRESENTING WESTERN MARYLAND.

It is rumored that Mr. Harlow is arranging to secure Oberlander for the next year Western Maryland team. "Red" Grange said he was satisfied with his present position and would not even consider Mr. Harlow's proposition. Our heart goes out to Western Maryland in her hour of great disappointment.

All of which goes to prove that Gettysburg is not anxious to play with a college that employed such methods. Doctor Hanson is doing all within his power to clean up athletics in this part of the country and it would be in line with the seeming attitude of the student body, as we have been informed by one who has been on the campus for some time, if the announcement was made that Western Maryland had been dropped from the schedule.

BONDS ARE ALL SOLD
Harrisburg, Oct. 4.—Final disposition of the last half million dollars of state highway bonds was announced Saturday by State Treasurer Lewis. Of the total amount $5,955,000 were sold privately, when only $4,000,045 were disposed of at a public offering of the bonds September 23.

EDITORIAL

THE NAVY BAND

The Gettysburg Lions Club has undertaken a very commendable enterprise in bringing to Gettysburg for two concerts on October 11 the United States Navy Band.

It is a big thing for a town the size of Gettysburg to entertain a musical organization of such fame, and large number of members.

But Gettysburg people have demonstrated in the past that they enjoy good music, particularly band music, and, in view of the fact that the Navy Band will eclipse anything of its kind that has ever been in Gettysburg, it is certain that it will be greeted by capacity audiences both afternoon and night.

Those citizens of both town and county who do not hear the United States Navy Band when it comes to Gettysburg are going to regret it afterward. The Gettysburg Times is quite ready and willing to uphold the Gettysburg Lions Club in vouching for the unusually high and interesting form of entertainment that the Navy band provides.

It will be well worth the price of a seat. Bringing the Navy Band to Gettysburg is indeed a progressive act on the part of the Lions Club.

COMMUNICATION

October 2, 1926.

Editor The Gettysburg Times,

Dear Mr. Grimm:

As editor of the Times—I want to place in your hands a very deep concern of mine which I know from expressions of opinion is also the concern of many more of your readers.

You have recently stated that one of the policies of your newspaper is the advancing of education. Would it not come within the scope of that policy to write an editorial against the presentation of the Tunney-Dempsey fight in the movies in Gettysburg? That surely is the wrong sort of education for our children!

I feel that grown men and women are "masters of their own fate" and must judge for themselves whether or not they should witness what seems to me—a remnant of barbarous civilization. But it is for the sake of the children that I make this request of you. It seems to me a picture of a prize fight "graphic in every detail" is a poor way to educate a child's ideals and train them to be "Christian gentlemen." Glancing over the daily papers and noting some of the brutal details of the fight—I shudder to think of our boys and perhaps girls filling their impressionable minds with such pictures. The price is so moderate too for children that I am afraid curiosity will draw a large number. Could you not make public opinion prohibit the admission of children under a certain age. I wish it might be twenty or more—or at least warn parents against allowing their boys to attend—parents so intent on their pleasure they forget the effect on a child's tender mind.

I feel that this plea of mine is a plea for the community's good—which, I believe, is also a policy of the Times—and also a plea in line with the Big Brother idea which I believe you Rotarians and Lions sponsor.

Trusting that you agree with me in thinking something should be done and that the Times can help do it, I am

Cordially yours,

A MOTHER.

Editor The Gettysburg Times,

Dear Sir:

The faculty of the Theological Seminary desires to express its hearty appreciation of the generous publicity given during the observance of the seminary's one hundredth birthday.

The splendid success of the celebration was made possible by the good will and hearty cooperation of friends who generously gave themselves and their talents to assure a celebration worthy of the occasion.

Your contribution had much to do with its success and we desire to say a hearty "thank you."

Very truly yours,

M. HADWIN FISCHER,

For the Faculty.

REMARriage MAY BE FORBIDDEN

Lutherans May Ban Divorced Persons From Marrying Again Under Proposed Rule.

Lutheran ministers and members of the Lutheran faith in Gettysburg and Adams county are interested in a rule instructing ministers of the denomination not to perform a marriage ceremony for "the guilty party to a divorce" which will be proposed to the biennial convention of the United Lutheran Church in America at Richmond, this month, by the committee on moral and social welfare.

The convention also will be called upon by the committee to declare "that we recognize only one standard of morality for both sexes," and "that the limitation of birth by artificial means is anti-Christian."

Acting on instructions received from the last biennial convention, the committee announced today, it has prepared 12 theses on the subject after considering all references to divorce and re-marriage in the Bible, and asks the church to assert them. Other points covered in these theses declare:

"That marriage is monogamic and as such is a covenant indissoluble for life.

"That marriage is one of the most important problems of the home and the church, and that plain teaching should be given: (1) concerning the necessity of both spiritual and physical self-control; (2) concerning the sanctity of married life based on love and understanding.

"That a chief aim of the married life is the birth of children and that the greatest blessing of God is often granted through children.

"That divorce is legitimate only when the marriage covenant has been broken by adultery and that remarriage is Scripturally lawful only to the innocent party. Mat. 5-32, 19-6.

"That it is also an average divorce in cases where judicial decrees declare that the marriage had never had a valid existence.

"That 'malicious desertion,' according to I Cor. 7:15, is considered a legitimate case for separation, but such separation does not carry with it the right of a second marriage, I Cor. 7-11, save where the deserting party has been found guilty of adultery."

AMUSEMENTS

"MEMORY LANE" AT STRAND

The ever bothersome question as to whether the prospective bride or groom should furnish the new home is brought up by Eleanor Boardman in John M. Stahl's production of "Memory Lane," the current attraction at the Strand Theatre tonight and Tuesday.

In the story, the husband, played by Conrad Nagel, takes his bride to a home already selected and furnished by him, regardless of his wife's tastes or wishes. Miss Boardman, the bride, is highly indignant over such a policy and expresses herself in no uncertain terms.

"In this day and age, if a woman does not go out into the world to help support herself and husband, the man in the case ought to be thankful enough to allow his wife to express herself in some way, if only in the household furniture.

"The average man knows little about the outfitting of a house, and the things that add the 'homey' feeling, and after all it is the wife who spends most of her time in the home, not the husband.

"If the man allows the woman to run her own household as she pleases, she should not interfere with her husband's business, or try to 'help' him."

William Haines is the third member of the trio of featured players in "Memory Lane," which Louis B. Mayer is releasing through First National.

"THE MIDNIGHT KISS"

Anyone who has ever been a kid brother will appreciate young Tommy Atkins' reactions in Fox films "The Midnight Kiss," now showing at the Majestic Theatre.

Tommy was an idealistic sort of a chap with ambitions to be a doctor. To this end he had established a clinic in the shed for all the ailing animals in the neighborhood ranging from goats to white mice.

Grandmother disapproved heartily and loudly prophesying the reform school or worse for young Tommy. Brother Spencer emerged from his poetic inspirations spasmodically to voice his disapproval of the way the

In the end he gets the two hundred and fifty, but Mildred gets him and the fadeout is as original as it is humorous.

"Don Juan," screen play by Bess Meredyth, starring John Barrymore, is a Warner Bros. picturization of this novel.

SYNOPSIS

Don Juan's dissipated father had warned him: "Destroy women or they will destroy you; take their love scornfully—and forget!" This advice has made Juan the greatest lover of all time. But his cynicism is suddenly checked by the disarming innocence of Madonna-like Adriana Varanese. Loving her madly, he reforms. The affair is dangerous because infamous Lucretia Borgia loves Juan, while Donati, her kinsman, covets Adriana. The Borgia capture Juan, and Adriana, Adriana's father, to save his life she agrees to marry Donati. Lucretia Borgia visits Juan, but he spurns her.

"The wisest man is easiest to deceive," she told him.
He made her a low, sweeping bow, a bow which would have expressed all gallantry, all admiration, had he not exaggerated it just enough to make it an absurd mockery of what it might have been. Her cheeks flamed as she stood watching him. He could make sport of her, of Lucretia Borgia, and before his servant, who no doubt was tittering there in the shadows beyond the candles' flickering light! Oh, he should pay for this—he would summon Nerl, the poisoner, and bid him devise some far worse death than ever yet had sent an enemy of the Borgias' writhing on his way to hell!

And yet—yet how could she do that? How could she, when her hands fairly ached to touch that dark, sleek head, when she asked nothing better of life than she might spend the rest of it with him?

With bitterness in her heart, she forced herself to play out the role she had assumed. It was her only chance of winning him, and though she hated it, she must play it to the end.

Juan had turned away from her deliberately, almost insultingly. Never before had any man turned from her in such a manner. He motioned for Pedrillo to carry out whatever wishes she might express, as he might have ordered the servant to attend the most unimportant guest. He was striding toward the outer door when Lucretia called to him. The sound of her own voice startled her, so strained was it, so forced. "Rome is laughing at you," she told him, mockingly. "And when you have learned what all the city knows, and long has known, come to me—perhaps I shall forgive you."

He turned then to face her. His eyes narrowed; he caught his breath sharply. Then suddenly he laughed, and she realized that he saw through her pretenses, knew how she loved him, how gladly she would have given up the world for him.

"Perhaps I shall come," he retorted, and was gone.
And Lucretia stood smiling, a curious smile, fed by her hatred of Adriana. And her assurance that Juan would be disillusioned about the girl. He was playing into her hands. Now she had only to wait, and see him come back to her, admitting that he had been wrong, she told herself.

And yet—would he come?

CHAPTER VIII
Adriana sat huddled down in the middle of her beautiful carved bed, staring up at the star-spinked blue ceiling, trying to believe that she was the girl who had awakened in that room so many happy romances.

She could not believe the ghastly events of the evening. Her father torn from her, dragged away by Cesare Borgia and Donati to the Vatican—perhaps to the prison of San Angelo, that great, forbidding building whose rounded side rose above the Tiber. It might be true that he had been taken away merely to sign the agreement that would confirm his consent to her marrying Donati—but knowing how he would hate doing that, she feared that there would be trouble.

first downs than their opponents did and added to this was the excellent punting of Slaughter, which proved to be a great advantage in ground gaining. But Tuckey also had his day, and with Spangler kept the ball in the Lehigh territory for the greater part of the game.

Tuckey Scores Twice

The lone tally was made when a forward pass, Hand to Burke, was completed across the Gettysburg goal line.

Twice Lehigh was in the very shadows of the Gettysburg goal line, but always did the offense crack and the team forced to punt. A placement by Spangler in the first period scored first blood.

Gettysburg gave a wonderful offensive display at the start of the third, when Tuckey and Spangler, alternating in carrying the ball, went down the field for four successive first downs, advancing from their own 40-yard line to Lehigh's 6-yard line. From there Tuckey went across for a touchdown. Spangler's attempted field goal went bad.

Tuckey featured with the prettiest run of the game when he broke through the Lehigh line on his own 20-yard line and, shaking off tackler after tackler, dashed eighty yards for a touchdown. Spangler counted the extra point with a drop kick. Lehigh's first real offensive flash came in the last quarter with Hayes and Sahnaw.

FRESHMEN WIN 6-0

The Dickinson College Freshman football team came to Gettysburg last Saturday with a record of having repeatedly stopped the Dickinson varsity but they struck a tartar in the plucky red-jerseyed first-year men of Gettysburg College and went home again on the short side of a 6-0 score. Dickinson brought along a heavy line, and outwitted the Junior Bullets, but the local yearlings had succeeded in beating back larger opponents in the Bellefonte game, and so the apparent handicap was of little moment to them.

The scoring was confined to the last quarter, but in the first half the victors had several good opportunities to score. In the third quarter the invaders showed their only offensive drive but it was met with a well played defensive game during this period.

McMillan, the diminutive quarterback of the Little Bullets, played a "whale" of a game and led his team on to a decisive victory. Snyder, Gardner, Huntsberger and Cramer were also stars on the offense. Morris, Boraczak, Hertzlich and Roach starred on the defense.

The lineup:
Gettysburg Fresh Dickinson Fresh
Hertzlich right end Schultz
Hofsten right tackle Cotsack
Boraczak right guard Haberman
Roach center Ritter

McMillan quarterback Angle

HIGH IS VICTOR

Gettysburg High School's Maroon and White football team scored its first victory of the season on Saturday afternoon when they defeated the strong Lebanon High team in easy fashion, 19-0. The game was sweet revenge for the defeat handed to the team by Lebanon last year.

The game was played in a sea of mud, the morning rain covering the lower end of the field with a sheet of water. Many fumbles and bad passes resulted from the slippery condition of the ball. The punting was far below par on both teams, several kicks being blocked. Only a fair sized crowd watched the game.

The victory initiated Gettysburg into the Central Pennsylvania Interscholastic Conference League. Gettysburg will meet three more conference members this season, John Harris, which appears on the local gridiron next Saturday, Sunbury and Lancaster being the remaining conference games. Lebanon also is a member of the league.

Lebanon proved a stubborn victim. The game was hotly contested and many little squabbles occurred during the fray. The Maroon and White aggregation showed a great reversal of form from that of last week's game. The local team was on the offensive during more than three-quarters of the game. Although the field was in a bad condition for open running, Gettysburg made several pretty end runs. The entire high school squad played fine ball. The backfield proved to be good line plungers and seldom failed to gain. W. Bream and Robinson proved the most consistent gainers, making two pretty runs for 15 and 20 yards each. Captain Light and Iselt played the stellar role for the Jokers.

The Lineups:

Gettysburg Lebanon
Trostele left end M. Light
J. Bream center Frey
Starry right guard Hoaster
Clapsaddle right tackle Leshner
Buohl right end Miller
Robinson quarter back Iselt
Gilbert left halfback S. Light, Capt.

Carpender Will Be Tried Alone

(By Associated Press.)

Somerville, Oct. 4.—Supreme Court Judge Parker Saturday granted the request of Special Prosecutor Simpson for a severance in the Hall-Mills case by which Henry Carpender will be tried separately from the other three defendants.

As a result of Saturday's ruling Mrs. Frances Stevens Hall and her brothers, Henry and Willie Stevens, will be the three to go on trial for the murder in 1922 of the Rev. Edward W. Hall and Mrs. Eleanor Mills.

After granting of the request for a severance Simpson moved for a trial by a struck jury of persons selected for their ability and knowledge. The motion was granted. November 3 was set as the date for the first trial.

ALEXANDER HAS "JINX" ON YANKS

"Cast-off." From Chicago Wins Second Game of World Series Before Huge Throng.

New York, Oct. 4.—Grover Cleveland Alexander, a cast-off of the Chicago Cubs, showed the New York Yankees that there was still a lot of the old fire in his ancient right arm, and after a poor start held the American League aspirants to the pennant of the baseball world helpless while he "whiffed" batter after batter, during seven innings of the second game of the world series Sunday. The score incidentally was 6 to 2 all in favor of the St. Louis Cardinals.

Alexander staged his "comeback" in the presence of the largest crowd which has ever witnessed the national pastime and when he struck out three of the opposing Yankees, Gehrig, Lazzari and Dugan, in the fourth inning, the crowd rose to its feet and gave him one of the greatest ovations which a player has ever received.

Instead of Ruth carrying off the home run honors of the day, Hornsby and Thevenow were the only ones to account for four-run swats, both of which were sent in the Bambino's direction, but too high or else too wide for the "king of swat" to retrieve. After dropping their first game on Saturday to the Yanks by the surprisingly low score of 2 to 1, Hornsby sent Alexander in to turn the tide, and after allowing three hits in the second inning and one in the third, the "old man" tightened up and the Yanks were not able to get one hit after that time.

ST. LOUIS GOES BASEBALL "MAD"

Fans Give Hornsby and Men Royal Welcome; Present Rogers With Expensive Machine.

(By Associated Press.)
St. Louis, Oct. 4.—The Cardinals arriving home today acclaimed as conquering heroes as a result of their victory over the Yankees yesterday will be accorded a welcome that St. Louis has been waiting 38 years to pour out of its heart.

The reception to Rogers Hornsby and his players promises to be a tumultuous affair winding up in a parade and the presentation to Hornsby of a $5,000 sedan, the gift of his St. Louis admirers.

St. Louis has gone completely baseball mad over the prospect of witnessing its first modern world series game tomorrow.

Every incoming train discharges its quota of baseball fans many of whom have no promise of even seeing a game because of the lack of seating facilities.

Out of the Past

Happenings of Days Gone by as Chronicled in The Star and Sentinel and The Gettysburg Times, the Files Reveal.

ONE HUNDRED YEARS AGO

The election is rapidly approaching and next Tuesday will determine whether we shall be represented by Democracy or retain our long-established and venerable character. We find that the sterling Federalism of Adams county feels the danger there is in remaining lukewarm and dividing their strength and we view it as a happy presage of success. The settled ticket, though every individual on it may not be pleasing to all, has been rallied round, to prevent a greater evil. We feel sensible that this is a matter which we can correct in future, if so disposed; but the disgrace attached to a triumph of our opponents cannot easily be removed. We hope there may be a general turnout to the polls; if there is, no danger is to be apprehended.

It is now conjectured that the report of the marriage of Gen. Bolivar with Miss Hart, of Connecticut, is a hoax.

The first railway in America has been made at Quincy, Massachusetts, and is about 3 miles in length.

There is now living in Vernon, Connecticut, a woman, whose granddaughter's grandson is a member of Washington College (Hartford). The family must have paid very little respect to the doctrines of Mather.

Begging.—We overtook, says a traveller, many settlers migrating to the West—for when a man gets a little under the weather in affairs, off jogs he to the backwoods to sun himself. One man started with his whole family of little children in a hand barrow, and finding it excited the sympathy of the people, and was profitable, he kept on thus the whole way, and collected $2,200 on the pilgrimage, with which he bought a plantation, and is now becoming an esquire.

It is calculated that the number of revolutionary officers actually in existence at the present time falls short of three hundred. Ten years hence, in all probability, twenty will not remain.

Public Schools.—One hundred and twenty-five thousand dollars have been assessed as taxes for the year in the city and county of Philadelphia. One-fourth of this sum goes to the support of the public school institutions of the county—deducting losses and expenses of collection about thirty thousand dollars.

SEVENTY-FIVE YEARS AGO
Vote the Whole Ticket.—Do not strike a single name.—The men placed on your ticket have all been fairly nominated, and have a claim upon your support. Sacrifice for once the prejudices, the partialities that may govern you. Give up your own private wishes for the good of all, and vote the whole ticket. The success of the principles of your party imperiously requires this course.

Whig Borough Meeting.—Agreeably to public notice, a number of the Whigs of the borough assembled at the house of John L. Tate, on the evening of the 29th ult., to form a Johnston club. John Pickering, Esq., was called to the chair; William Wisotzkey and James Rouzer were appointed vice presidents, and David A. Buehler, secretary.

On motion, Charles Horner, James G. Reed, William W. Hamersley, A. B. Kurtz and Henry Little were appointed a committee to report officers for the permanent organization of the club. The following nominations were unanimously confirmed:

President: William Wisotzkey.
Vice presidents: David Sweeney, Adam Doersom, Daniel Baldwin, Johnston H. Skelly.

Secretaries: J. G. Frey, Samuel G. Cook, Henry Baltzley.

Executive committee: J. Weigle, Jeremiah Culp, Henry Hughes, Nicholas Codori, John Culp (of H.), John Gilbert, D. A. Buehler, John Carver, Ezaias Z. Little, Valentine Werner, Daniel Gilbert, George H. Swope, D. McConaughy, David McCreary, Martin Warren, George Codori, Jacob Remmel, James Rouzer, Samuel J. Little, Levi McElroy, Henry Garlach, William B. McClellan, William J. Martin, A. R. Stevenson and George Little.

Treasurer: Robert G. McCreary. The meeting was, during the course of the evening, successively addressed by R. G. McCreary, Esq., Gen. James G. Reed and D. McConaughy, Esq., in appropriate and pertinent speeches.

Marshall College.—We learn from the Lancaster paper that the amount necessary to secure the union of Franklin and Marshall Colleges, and the consequent removal of the latter from Mercersburg to Lancaster, has been subscribed, and that an agent has been authorized to proceed to make collections immediately.

Take Your Teams with You.—Every good Whig who has a team, should take it with him to the polls. It would be a pity to lose a vote because no team could be found to send after it. After you have voted be ready to labor in bringing out other voters. Do your part towards bringing in delinquents and so securing a full vote, that you may go home, certain to hear of a Whig victory.

BUCHANAN VALLEY

Buchanan Valley.—Mr. and Mrs. Charles Strasbaugh spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Steinberg, near Gettysburg.

Joseph and Edward Schwartz, of York, visited their aunt, Mrs. Pearl Sneeringer, over the last week-end.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Kramer, of Chambersburg, and Mr. and Mrs. Maurice Eicholtz, of Arendtsville, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. S. K. Irvin.

Austin Dillon, of Youngstown, Ohio, spent the past week with Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Keiser.

Alton Haler has returned from a week's visit in Pittsburgh, with his brothers, Philip and Theodore Haler, and families. His cousins, Mr. and Mrs. Heel, accompanied him to Pittsburgh, enroute to their home in Canada, after a week's visit with the Halers.

Edward Fries and children, Marie, Frances, Robert and Edward, and Miss Cecilia Fries, of Chambersburg, spent last Sunday with Kathryn and Jennie Kimple.

Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Lease, of York, visited over the last week-end with Mr. and Mrs. George Irvin.

Mr. and Mrs. Charles Gobel and son, Charles, have returned from the Philippines, where they spent the past three years. They are spending some time with Mrs. Goble's parents, Mr. and Mrs. John Cole, and later will go to Key West, Florida, where Mr. Goble has been assigned to a position in the United States Navy.

TODAY'S TALK

By GEORGE MATTHEW ADAMS

JUST A MOTHER

IT WAS a remarkable feat for that little 19-year-old girl, Gertrude Ederle, to have swum the English channel. Truly does she deserve the name of champion!

But somehow or other the feat of that other woman—a mother—seems to outshine them all, and the name of Mrs. Corson probably will be talked about and remembered long after the great feats of the champions have been forgotten.

The reason is plain. The world loves to reverence the feat of a Mother. She who has nourished and given to life increased life. Who is there—no matter how crestfallen and discouraged by the battering of lost faith and the touch of treachery—who does not grope in the darkness toward a Mother's heart for warmth and reassurance?

Here is something that the rust of modernism and iconoclasm can never touch.

Just a Mother!
Tonight, as I stood on a street corner, waiting the pass of traffic, I saw a young Mother emerge. She had a tiny bundle in a blanket hugged to her heart. I noted reverence in the glow of every eye that saw.

One of the most poignant pictures of modern times is that etching done by the great French artist Forain. It is called "Pity."

They have just taken down from the cross the figure of Jesus. The body is prone upon the ground. At a brief distance is the figure of a man with his hands buried about his face. Every line that the artist has etched speaks of pain and sorrow. But right near the cross are the figures of two women. One is holding the head that was pierced by the crown of thorns, and the other is bathing the wound. Does anybody doubt that one of these women is the Mother of Jesus?

"All that I am, or ever hope to be," said Abraham Lincoln, "I owe to my angel Mother."

Just Folks

TRIAL

This I'll say for trouble:
If not a plan went wrong,
Through life we'd go and never know
The joy of being strong.
If dangers never faced us
And life were free from care
At every turn, we'd never learn
What burdens we can bear.

And this for pain of body
Which cuts us like a knife:
The cruel twinge which makes us
cringe
Is certain proof of life.
For let there be no feeling
In arm or foot or head,
Whate'er the spot, where pain is not
The nerves of life are dead.

And this for all achievement
Which triumphs o'er despair:
The man who asks for easy tasks
No robe of fame shall wear.
For only they win glory
Who stand when sorely pressed
And brave the blows which fate bestows
The faith of men to test.

How to Gain 5 Pounds in 30 Days.

Ask People's Drug Store or any druggist for a box of McCoy's Cod Liver Oil Compound Tablets. They cost but little, are sugar coated and as pleasant to take as candy.

Skinny men and women take them to speedily put on plenty of good, healthy, solid flesh, and for this purpose they are so extremely good that thin men and women often take on 5 pounds or more in 30 days. As a matter of fact, all druggists are authorized to return your money if you don't take on 5 pounds in 30 days. One thin woman gained 15 pounds in six weeks.

Insist on McCoy's, the original and genuine—60 Tablets—60 cents.—adv.

Little Jack Rabbit

By David Corey

The Shady Forest had turned to gold and red and yellow, like a great big nosegay. On the ground the brown leaves crinkled under one's feet, and every time Billy Breeze whistled loudly, a shower of them would fall from the treetops. Now and again this merry little breeze scattered red and gold leaves from the beech and birch trees and told the crimson leaves of the sumacs to nod goodbye to sweet summer.

"Dear me," thought the little rabbit, as he hopped merrily along the Winding Trail this beautiful October day. "How quiet seems the wood. No birds are singing," and on he hopped until he came to the corn field, when whom should he meet but Professor Jim Crow.

"How's my little bunny boy today?" asked the kind old bird.

"A little lonely," answered the little rabbit.

"Yes, most of our feathered friends have left for the Sunny South," answered the old crow.

"Dear, dear," sighed the bunny boy.

"There go Old Bill Buzzard and his family," suddenly exclaimed Professor Jim Crow, pointing up to the Big Blue Sky. Sure enough, there they were just setting out for a warmer climate.

"Their two young ones are as big as their parents," went on the wise old crow, "although not as yet bald-headed," he added with a laugh. "They still have down on the tops of their heads. But their wings are strong enough for a long journey."

"Wings are wonderful things," exclaimed the little rabbit.

"Well, I'll say so," agreed the old professor bird. "You can jump off from the ground just a little way into the air, but you cannot fly into it, as the birds do. It is because you have no wings. You have a fine pair of jumping hind legs, little rabbit. But they are not meant for flying."

"But how is it that you birds fly with your wings?" asked the curious little bunny.

"We push ourselves up with them into the air. Yes, sir, we push down upon the air with our wings just as you press with your feet on the ground when you jump up."

"Your wings are much larger than my feet," said the little rabbit.

"They needs must be," answered the old crow. "They must press upon a lot of air to be able to raise our bodies. See how large my wings are," and professor crow stretched out his wings. "They are both very long and very broad. Besides, I'm not so large as I seem to be. If all the feathers were stripped off my body, you'd see what a difference it would make."

"Guess you'd shiver a lot in the cold weather," laughed the little rabbit, suddenly remembering that winter was coming.

"I'll need all my warm feathers,"

Indigestion, Dizzy Spells and Other Complaints Now Forgotten

Wife of prominent farmer tells of pleasing experience with Drecto.

The great herbal remedy Drecto which was recently introduced here through the Drecto Expert at the People's Drug Store is growing daily in popularity because of its certain action on the stomach, liver, kidneys, bladder, bowels and the blood. Its powers are great to relieve constipation, dizziness, headaches, gas in the stomach, backache and other symptoms. Many people testify to the results obtained.

Mrs. Roy Laughman, wife of the prominent farmer living on Route 6, Hanover, Pa., says:

"I scarcely knew a well day before I started on Drecto. Although I had very little appetite and was careful to only eat the food I thought easiest to digest I was a constant sufferer from many forms of indigestion. The I'm thinking," answered Professor Jim Crow, as he tore open the husks of an ear of corn.

"Why?" questioned the curious little bunny.

"These husks are unusually thick."

Country folks say thick husks mean cold winter," went on the old crow. "But I should worry. My feather coat has always kept me warm."

"So has mine," laughed the little rabbit. "I'd rather stay in the dear Old Bramble Patch than take a long journey to the South," and away he hopped, lipperty lip, clipperty clip into the next story.

IN MEMORIAM

In loving remembrance of our dear wife and mother, Mrs. Laura Hess, who departed this life October 4, 1924, just two years ago today.

We've sat by her bedside and watched her in her sleep and when with paid we heard her moan, it almost made us weep. Day after day we saw her linger and slowly fade away; yet in our hearts we prayed that she might longer stay.

Oh! mother dear, how can it be no more they look of love we'll see, but now we'll strive and daily pray to meet the in Eternal day. A mother, yes, a mother kind, has gone and left us here behind. No use to weep for tears are vain. A mother dear is out of pain. Home is not a home since dear mother's not here. Our home is so lonely, so dark, so drear. Never more will we hear her foot-steps fall. She's gone to that home prepared for us all.

By the Family.

HOW THE PILGRIM MOTHER

Kept Her Family in Good Health

A statue to the Pilgrim Mother was recently unveiled at Plymouth Rock, Mass. Through her we honor every pioneer woman who endured privation and hardships that a nation might live. Shoulder to shoulder with her husband she built a home in the wilderness and reared her sturdy sons and daughters. She cooked and sewed. She spun and wove for her growing family and when they were ill, she brewed potent remedies from roots and herbs—such roots and herbs as are now used in Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

A Massachusetts woman writes: "I was all run-down, with no ambition. I was tired all the time. Sometimes I would be in bed two or three days at a time, and the doctor would have to give me something to quiet me. A friend told me about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I have had wonderful results from it. I felt better after taking the second bottle, and I am never without it in the house now. I have told lots of people about it, and they say it helps them, too. I am willing to answer letters from women asking about the Vegetable Compound."—Miss J. W. Carr, 2 Hammond Street, Cambridge, Mass.
